A TERRIBLE RIOT

At the Gaylor Coal Works, up the River, Yesterday.

MANY MINERS BRUTALLY BEATEN

By Dagoes from Out the Wheeling & Lake Erie Road—Some of the Workmen are Still Missing—They Had Committed no Offense and Were Treated Like Beasts—Several Arrests Made and Wholesale Prosecutions Will Follow.

Belmont county was disgraced yesterday by another riot. It occurred at the Gaylor Coal Works, owned by McGinley Bros., of Wheeling, two and a half miles above Martin's Ferry, and surpassed the lawlessness at Wheeling creek last summer and the Backeye troubles.

Two hundred miners from the Wheeling & Lake Erie mines, headed by a brass band and armed with revolvers, knives, pick handles and clubs, attacked the works, drove out the miners at work and assaulted nine in the most fiendish manner.

One man had his head cut in four different places and was otherwise injured.

Sheriff William Darby was asked to take charge of the works, and the company will prosecute the lawbreakers. It is determined to run the works at all hazards. Over thirty men went to work in the coal works on Monday morning, being promised 60 cents per ton until the scale was fixed by the state association, these men to receive the union price after that time. Everything passed off smoothly at the works on Monday, but it is alleged that several of the old employees who were recently discharged for causing a strike, went to Dillonvale and misrepresented the situation, stating that the men had gone to work at 45 cents. This, or the simple fact that the men were working, angered the miners at Dillonvale, Long Run and Laurelton. The miners' band was gotten out and all arrangements made for the charge. The band began to play that evening and word was sent to all the miners. The men fell in and marched around all night, rendering sleep almost impossible for those who remained in bed.

THE WORKMEN OUTNUMBERED.

At 3:30 yesterday morning the mob, numbering 200 strong, started for the Gaylor works, nine miles across the country. Almost every man who followed the band of twelve pieces carried a pick handle or club in his hand. Several dropped out on the wayside and the force was recruited by other miners en route.

After a long, tiresome tramp the works were reached. It was then after 6 o'clock and the majority of the miners had already gone to work. Some of those who came late were stoned or assaulted as they entered the works or attempted to go in.

The McGinley brothers were on the ground at the time but were powerless. The mob surrounded the works. One half of it went inside to drive out the men and the other half formed into two lines on either side of the entrance to "receive" the men as they were run out. The miners who entered the works had procured lamps and proceeded ed to slug and drive out the men at work as fast as they were found, giving every man

AN AWFUL BEATING.

Some of these ran out to save their lives and found the gang on the outside even worse than the one on the inside.

Each of the men was obliged to run the gauntlet and was beaten from right and left, on the head, arms, breast, back and legs, almost every man being knocked down and treated in the most brutal manner. Several were kicked when they were down, and as they reached the end of the lines they were seized and thrown down over the embankment.

A number of the men who had been working were not found, two or three concealing themselves and the last of them came out about 11 o'clock, all uninjured.

Their work accomplished, the rioters left, one of the squads numbering almost one hundred. This one marched to Yorkville and there it boarded the east bound local freight on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad, and most of the gang went to Portland on it. The train was in charge of Conductor George Lockett, but the crowd was too much for him and he made no effort to fire it off.

While the rioters were stealing the ride some of them danced to the music of the horns, and all seemed in the best of spirits and did not mind a little thing like the weather. No further lawlessness is reported after they left Belmont county. The mob was composed principally of Huns, Slavs and Poles.

The exact number of miners who received serious injury is not known.

MARCHED TO THE FRAY.

Several of the men who were driven out say that they were so greatly outnumbered that resistance was useless, and that they are willing to go to work again if they are protected.

The company says it is doing as much by the miners as any other operators would do, and the managers are determined to run the works.

Sheriff Darby ordered several of his deputies to the scene of the riot, and they arrived after the trouble was over, but remained on guard.

The names of many of the participants are known, and wholesale prosecutions are promised.

Three of the miners who were at work when the attack was made cannot be found. The mines and woods were searched yesterday afternoon without success. It was thought that the miners had hidden in the mines in order to escape from the mob, but if they did they cannot be found.

Seven of the ringleaders were arrested last evening by Deputy Sheriff Thompson and Deputy United States Marshal Al Conoway. It is said that wholesale arrests will be made.

The seven prisoners captured by the officers were brought to bridgeport last night and lodged in the lockup there to await a hearing this morning. One of the men most severely hurt came down and also identified several of the prisoners as among his assailants. Dr. Heinlein, who attended the wounded man, said that he was in a very serious condition.

An attempt will be made to start up the mines this morning. Several deputies will be on hand at daylight.

The Wheeling creek and Laurelton miners will vote on the scale proposition to-day.

ANOTHER HOTTEST DAY.

The Mercury again reaches 100 in the shade—Hot Work Stops.

There was not much moderation of the weather yesterday. The sun was occasionally obscured by clouds, but when it shone it was as fierce as ever. The mercury at Schnepf's drug store again marked an even 100 in the shade. A thermometer exposed to the sun for a short time ran up to 120. A fairly good breeze was astir at times, but it was warm enough for the hottest blooded individual in this community. Following is the hourly record:

Thurs.	Fri.	Satur.	Sund.	Mon.	Tues.
day.	day.	day.	day.	day.	day.
7 A. M.	78	76	78	82	80

The mercury first reached 100 yesterday at 12:30 p. m.

Rain was predicted by the weather bureau and all the signs were favorable to it, but it did not come until 1 a. m., when a shower began.

All the workmen at the La Belle mill had to quit work at noon yesterday on account of the excessive heat.

At Bellaire the first case of heat stroke occurred yesterday. Patrick Whelan, who keeps a saloon on Union street there, was overcome about half-past 9 o'clock. At first it was thought he had suffered a stroke of paralysis, but it developed later that he was overcome with heat. He remained in a semi-unconscious condition most of the day and the attending physicians regard his case as critical, though there were some signs of improvement in the afternoon. He is not a hard drinking man.

THE WEATHER IN MAY.

Mr. C. Schnepf furnishes the following statement of the weather record for the last month: On 14 days it was fair, partly cloudy; clear on 6; cloudy on 5, and it rained on 6. The highest temperature was 96 on the 31st, and the lowest 35 on the 13th, 17th and 22d. The average was 63.8, as against 63.5 in May, 1894. The rainfall was 1.32 inches, while in 1894 it was 4.12. There were two thunder storms in the month.

THE WHEELER CASE

Again Put on Trial in the Criminal Court Yesterday.

In the criminal court, Judge Hugus on the bench, yesterday, the case of Dr. Hyman Wheeler was again put on trial. He is under indictment for performing an abortion on Dollah Hester Ritchie, from the results of which she lost her life. Prosecuting Attorney Howard represents the state and Dovener and Conitt the defendant.

It was about 3 o'clock when a jury was secured, and the opposing counsel at once stated the case. Dr. McGrath, who made a post mortem examination of the girl's body, was then called to the stand and examined, and when his testimony was finished court adjourned till this morning.

ONLY a limited number of tickets will be issued for the excursion of the Union Epworth League, Thursday evening, on the steamer Liberty, and are on sale at W. J. Lukens' and Exley Bros.' Pharmacy.

IN THE JUSTICES' COURTS.

A Number of Cases Disposed of by Them Yesterday.

Harry Daugherty was arraigned before Squire Gillespy yesterday on a charge of assault on a boy named Dan O'Neal, who lives near him at the head of the pike. He was fined $10 and costs. The assault was committed last Sunday.

In Squire Fitzpatrick's court Mrs. G. King complained that Charles Heizer had contended with loud and angry words. He was required to give bond in $50 to keep the peace for a year. The parties live on Twenty-ninth street.

A. C. Rowell was accused of unlawfully but not feloniously defacing real property at 51 Twenty-sixth street, belonging to Mrs. J. Klieven. He was held for the grand jury.

On complaint of George Weiner, Nick Miller was fined $1 and costs for profane swearing.

Nellie White was up on a charge of keeping a house of ill fame, and was held for court. She and Charles Smith were also fined $20 and costs each. John Hicks, an oil man who caused all the trouble by making complaint that he had been badly treated in the house, was held for loitering in such a place against the statute for such cases made and provided, and not being able to give bond, was sent to jail.
